BOAT BLAZE HORROR

Owner suffers severe burns as fire wrecks narrow boat

A TRIP to the pub ended with a daring rescue for a have-a-go hero who saved a man from a burning narrow boat moored in Harlow.

Jason Gleed, of The Hornbeams, braved intense heat and flames to drag Peter Hall from the River Stort after the boat went up in flames outside The Moorhen pub on Saturday evening.

The assistant toolshop manager had been enjoying a drink with his family and a friend in the pub's beer garden when he smelled smoke.

"It was about 8.30pm. I had just finished my pint and we were getting ready to leave the pub when I noticed the smoke," he told the Star. "I looked towards the river and saw flames and then I heard a scream quickly followed by a splash.

"I jumped over the fence and saw a man struggling in the water so I got hold of him and tried to pull him out of the river, but he slipped back.

"At the time I thought I couldn't get a grip on him because of the water but I later realised it must have been the skin on his arms. It was literally peeling off because he'd been so badly burned." Mr Gleed eventually managed to drag Mr Hall from the river but the drama was not over as Mr Hall warned his rescuer there were gas canisters still on board the burning boat.

"By now the boat was completely engulfed by flames and my friend Gemma [Larkin] took the man aside to try and calm him down while I phoned the emergency services," said Mr Gleed.

"There were about 50 people in the pub who'd come out to see what was going on so, with the help of staff, we tried to get everyone back inside. We were worried there could be a serious explosion."

Gemma, of Churchgate Street Old Harlow, added: "The man's arms and body were completely covered in burns and his skin was hot to the touch and just falling off.

I got him inside the pub where staff took him to the kitchen to pour cold water over him."

Police and fire crews quickly arrived on the scene and the blaze was eventually extinguished shortly after

Stowaway crushed under lorry wheels

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

AN illegal immigrant who had hidden underneath a lorry as it travelled from Calais to gain entry to the UK died when he fell off and was run over by the vehicle when it reached Harlow, an inquest was told.

Sameh Rahimi, a married Iranian, was one of two men who wedged themselves into a space between the wheels of the articulated trailer.

But he became entangled and seriously injured when the vehicle stopped at an industrial estate off Edinburgh Way.

Chelmsford Coroners Court heard on Friday that Mr Rahimi was then run over by the vehicle as it was reversing, leaving a trail of blood on South Road.

The lorry driver drove off, not realising what had happened.

The other man successfully freed himself and ran off. He has never been traced, the inquest was told.

The body of Mr Rahimi was discovered by a passerby who alerted police.

An investigation into the incident, which took place in November 2006, revealed that a road-sweeping vehicle had picked up some blood on its brushes as it passed through the scene about 5am.

The lorry was located a short while later in River Way with blood and body tissue still on the tractor unit.

Coroner's officer John Denham said photographs were found near the body which showed Mr Rahimi was married with children.

Although his age was not known, he was born in Iran and his family live in Afghanistan.

Police investigator PC David Howard told the inquest that the dangers of being underneath a trailer between its wheels were obvious.

"One of the people got out from underneath and that person remains untraced. Another became seriously injured as the lorry started to reverse.

"The lorry drove forward and the injured person, now on the carriageway, was run over by the vehicle's trailer."

Recording a verdict of accidental death, Essex coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray said Mr Rahimi had sustained multiple injuries.

Scouting stalwarts given civic awards

COMMUNITY heroes were given something to scout about after scooping civic awards for their tireless work with local Scout groups.

Volunteer Scouting chiefs Toni Mitchell and Nigel Apps were presented with framed certificates by Harlow Council chairwoman Sue Livings at a special ceremony to mark their outstanding contribution to the community.

Ms Mitchell, who currently holds the title of Deputy District Scouting Commissioner, has been involved in the movement for more than 23 years and was instrumental in organising Harlow District Scouts' recent centenary celebrations.

Mr Apps, Scout leader and group contact for the 2nd Great Parndon Group, has been a leader in Harlow for more than 30 years and now runs one of the strongest groups in Harlow with 65 members.

Veteran Harlow District Scouts member Peter Longville was also rewarded for his role in helping local groups to flourish but was unable to attend the ceremony.

Cllr Livings said: "I wish to thank Toni, Peter and Nigel for their contribution to the community in Harlow and wish them well for the future."

Knifed teen's mum to join march for justice

THE mother of a Harlow teenager stabbed to death outside an east London pub four years ago is calling on residents to show their support for her crusade for tougher sentences for violent criminals.

Melanie Hopwood, of The Hides, Harlow, is inviting people to join her on the Life Should Mean Life march in central London on Saturday in memory of her son Tommy Jones, who was 16 when he died.

The man who stood trial for his killing was cleared of murder and manslaughter by a jury, despite the fact he admitted stabbing Tommy with a 10-inch kitchen knife following a row outside the pub in Beckton.

"I think about Tommy every single day of my life," Ms Hopwood told the Star. "The fact the thug who killed him got away with it makes me sick to my stomach.

"It should be my son's killer doing the life sentence but instead it's me and my family. We've never been able to come to terms with our loss."

Ms Hopwood said she hoped the change in Government would signal a new attitude to tougher sentences.

MELANIE HOPWOOD

"Life should mean life, not 15 years," she said. "And there should be much tougher sentences for those carrying knives because at the moment there is no deterrent."

Organised by pressure group Families Fighting For Justice, Saturday's rally will begin at Temple Underground station and proceed past the Houses of Parliament and 10 Downing Street before finishing up in The Mall.

"There are hundreds of people in Harlow who will have been directly affected by violent crime and I would encourage all of them to join the march to help get our message across," said Ms Hopwood.

Search starts for this year's Star Super Kids

THE waiting is over as the search to find the region's bonniest children got under way this week.

On Monday the Star launched its annual Super Kids competition at the Sainsbury's supermarket in Allende Avenue. From today (Thursday) until Saturday it moves to the Tesco store at Church Langley. If you are the parent of a child under the age of five and would like to enter him or her in the contest, simply take them along to one of our free photo sessions which are being held at the Tesco store between 9.30am-5pm.

All the photographs will be published in a special Super Kids supplement which will appear in the Star in November and readers will be invited to vote for their favourite tots. There are some great prizes for the winners so come along and join the fun.

Boat blaze horror

10pm. Mr Hill suffered 50 per cent burns to his body and was rushed to Princess Alexandra Hospital by ambulance. He is now receiving treatment in the specialist burns unit at Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford where his condition is understood to be stable.

Mr Gleed added: "I just did what anyone else in my position would have done, it was instinctive.

"I just hope the man makes a full recovery. We wish him all the best."

Police and fire service officers have launched an investigation into the cause of the blaze, which completely destroyed the 39ft vessel.

Wall walk team head for China

A GROUP of intrepid explorers have embarked on a Far Eastern adventure in a bid to raise thousands of pounds for St Clare Hospice.

A total of 24 fundraisers from across West Essex and East Herts boarded a Beijing-bound flight on Friday afternoon at the start of the fundraiser during which they are expected to spend several days trekking along the Great Wall of China.

After completing the sponsored walk – which is hoped to raise around £45,000 for the Hastingwood-based hospice – the group will take in the sites of the Forbidden City and Tiananmen Square before heading back home. One of those taking part is Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for the hospice. She said the team had spent weeks training and fundraising in preparation for the gruelling walk.

"All the trekkers have put so much

effort into their training and their fundraising," she said. "One lady raised over £7,000 by herself while another pair worked with their family to organise a massive football fun day which raised over £5,000.

"There have been quizzes, fashion shows, lots of car boot sales, barbecues, discos, company donations, school fundraising. They've all done a fabulous job of spreading the word about the hospice within the community."

The money raised by the trek will fund nearly eight weeks of day therapy care for 48 patients or two weeks of inpatient care for eight patients.

Tracy added: "It's an amazing sum of money to raise and will fund the very best care for people facing a very difficult time in their lives."

Get a taste for fundraising

ADD a spoonful of philanthropy to your morning coffee tomorrow (Friday) by participating in a massive fundraising event in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

The charity is the driving force behind the World's Biggest Coffee Morning campaign, which invites shops and businesses to hold their own coffee-themed fundraising events.

Even if your firm isn't taking part this year, a number of open events will also be taking place at locations across Harlow, including St. Mary's Church in Churchgate Street, the Park Inn Hotel in Southern Way and Water Lane Primary School in Broadley Road.

Macmillan hopes that events across the UK will raise more than £8.3 m.

"We want as many people as possible to take part in the World's Biggest Coffee Morning this year to help us raise more money than ever before to fund our vital cancer services," said a Macmillan spokesman.

"If you're not keen on coffee and would rather have cocktails or even herbal tea then that's fine as well. And if you can't do it on September 24 then just pick another day."

Pet superstore's words of wisdom

A HARLOW pet superstore is offering local Beaver and Cub Scout groups a fast-track merit badge in animal care.

Trained in-store advisers at Pets at Home, in Edinburgh Way, will give talks to Beavers on small animals, fish or insects and to Cub Scouts on freshwater, sea water or tropical fish.

Beavers will be awarded the Animal Friend Badge for learning how to feed and equip the homes of their creature of choice, while Cubs must identify what foods fish thrive on to earn their Animal Carer Badge.

Store manager James Byrne said he was happy to share the expertise of his staff with youngsters.

"The free workshops will help local Beavers and Cub Scouts find out all the information they need to achieve some of their badge activity tasks, teaching them how to care for pets responsibly."

To book a free workshop for your group, contact the store on (01279) 413611.

Open evening to recruit referee

WOULD-be whistleblowers interested in becoming football referees can learn more about the what the job entails at an open evening in Harlow next month.

The Harlow Referees Society will hold the free event at the Esporta Health Club, in The Water Gardens, on Monday, October 27.

An HRS spokesman said: "This is the first time any Essex Referee Society has held an open evening for the community to share their knowledge and love of football.

"If you are passionate about the beautiful game and are interested in becoming a referee for youth, adult or women's football, please come along and enjoy the hospitality and presentation which will tell you about the skills required and the benefits of becoming a referee."

Anyone aged 14 and above with a passion for the game can attend the event, which kicks off at 7.30pm. For more information, contact Karen Innes on 07967 481431.

A chance to visit riverside 'village'

RESIDENTS fed up with the hustle and bustle of suburban living can get a taste of a quieter life on the water's edge when Roydon Marina Village hosts two open days this weekend.

The rural community is based alongside the River Stort in Roydon and offers residential homes, holiday lodges and even an onsite bar and restaurant.

Ceremony marks start of building works on university

WORK has now started on the construction of a new state-of-the-art university centre within the grounds of Harlow College.

Visitors to the Velizy Avenue campus on Friday watched as Harlow MP Robert Halfon signalled the start of work on the £9.3m Anglia Ruskin University project at a ground-breaking ceremony. The MP was among 30 invited guests joining Anglia Ruskin vice chancellor Professor Michael Thorne, Harlow Council chairwoman Sue Livings and Harlow College principal Colin Hindmarch to celebrate the landmark event.

The building is expected to be finished by next summer and will provide degree-level courses for students.

The college's existing higher education provision will move into the new state-of-the-art accommodation.

Mr Halfon said: "Harlow College has been transformed in recent years and is rapidly becoming one of the best colleges in England. The partnership with Anglia Ruskin builds on this success. "It's a proud time for Harlow as we will soon have a great university centre as well as an excellent college in our town."

Town centre plan 'alive and kicking'

THE head of the organisation tasked with overseeing the regeneration of Harlow town centre believes it will still go ahead despite recent setbacks.

Andrew Bramidge, chief executive of Harlow Renaissance, said he remained confident the ambitious plans will come to fruition even though there is currently no developer in place after Stockland pulled out earlier this year.

And as the Star revealed earlier this month, the plans took another blow when Harlow Renaissance announced it was to be wound up in March after its two main sources of funding were axed in the Government's spending shake-up.

This week Mr Bramidge moved to reassure residents that his team were "beavering away behind the scenes" to ensure the proposed redevelopment went ahead.

"It's true the plans took a hit after Stockland pulled out, but we hope this will only put the project's delivery back by about a year," he said.

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"In the current financial climate it's highly unlikely that we'll find a single developer to oversee the entire regeneration project, but we've been hugely encouraged by the number of firms contacting us to express their interest in the scheme."

Asked if securing the services of multiple developers would put the project at risk of being developed piecemeal, Mr Bramidge said all interested firms would be expected to adhere to a master-plan.

"This will ensure that even if the project is delivered in separate phases, each phase will fit together as part of one coherent whole," he explained.

The procurement process will begin in a matter of weeks but Mr Bramidge said he did not expect the contract to be put out to tender until the beginning of next year.

"We are also talking to shopkeepers, businesses and landowners about how they can contribute to the scheme and we have been encouraged by the feedback we've received so far," he added.

"Rest assured we will be working closely with our partners right up until our last day as a company next March to ensure we do all we can to find new developers for what remains a very exciting project."

Lasting legacy will pave the way for future growth

HARLOW Renaissance chief executive Andrew Bramidge believes the regeneration firm will leave a lasting legacy in Harlow.

Mr Bramidge said his team's work over the past three years should not be underestimated and claimed it would pave the way for the future growth and redevelopment of the town.

"At the end of the day organisations like Renaissance are judged on results, and I believe we have a very good track record for delivering on our promises and aspirations for Harlow," he said.

Mr Bramidge pointed to Renaissance's "key roles" in the recent refurbishment of Harlow Town Station, the opening of the Harlow Enterprise Hub, the impending construction of a new university campus on the Harlow College site and ongoing work to regenerate Prentice Place, Clifton Hatch and Old Harlow as examples of its achievements.

He also said the creation and implementation of the Harlow - See Something Different branding campaign had raised the town's profile and tackled negative perceptions.

"I really believe that we have created a lasting legacy for Harlow that will help inform future regeneration and growth efforts, and I hope Harlow Council can continue some of the work we have started," he added.

● A number of interim improvement works are set to be carried out in the town centre.

A new public seating and green area could be erected in West Square in an attempt to spruce up the neglected northern end of the town centre while Market Square could finally get a long-awaited makeover with the demolition of the permanent market stalls.

ANDREW BRAMIDGE: "I believe we have a very good track record for delivering on our promises and aspirations for Harlow"

Speak out against this housing blight

SIR, The North Harlow Joint Venture has recently sent out a leaflet which describes in soft pastel tones how their proposals to build on land between Hunsdon, Widford, Much Hadham, Sawbridgeworth, High Wych and Eastwick and Gilston could be used to meet all East Herts' housing needs up to 2031.

Your readers might note the absence of any suggestion now that the development is intended to relieve or assist in the regeneration of Harlow.

The leaflet gives the impression that these plans have been developed based on consultation with the general public and with key stakeholders including East Herts Council, Eastwick & Gilston Parish Council and STOP Harlow North. It's true that NHJV has sought to engage with each of these but absolutely false that the plans reflect the overwhelming feedback they have received from each.

Now that the always discredited East of England Plan has been dropped NHJV is having to resort to desperate measures, including being economical with the actualité. Considering that the partners in NHJV are two of the largest land investment companies in the UK, such despair seems incredible until one remembers the investment they have made so far. What was the cost of that last mailshot alone?

East Herts Council has to prepare a Local Plan to guide future development for the district and the current Local Development Framework still includes reference to Harlow North because it was being prepared in line with the East of England Plan.

The council is currently undertaking a public consultation. Star readers now have the opportunity to show once and for all that local people do not want this blight and give East Herts Council reason to drop Harlow North from the Local Plan.

There are a number of ways to respond on all the issues in the public consultation, but for this one in particular the most straightforward is through the STOP Harlow North website at www.stopharlownorth.com.

Question of equality

SIR, Just when you would assume the worse was over regarding the on-going saga of Councillor Dangerfield, up he pops and reignites the whole debate again with his letter in last week's Star.

As one of the local councillors for Park Mead, I received calls from local residents about the sudden appearance of five Kier vans outside Cllr Dangerfield's new home. So, as a councillor, should I just ignore the residents who were asking

Threat of economic stagnation

SIR, Robert Halfon has a touching faith that the Coalition Government's budget 'will protect people on low incomes and the poorest'. (Star, September 16). Yet it is the poorest and most vulnerable who are expected to pay for the deficit.

The Government's claim to be progressive and fair was quickly demolished by the Institute for Fiscal Studies, which argued that the poor would be hit hardest.

The legal failure to consider the impact on women, disabled people and ethnic minorities was criticised by the Fawcett Society. Numerous official bodies fear an increase in inequality.

The big losers will be poorer families, people with disabilities and long-term illnesses, pensioners and the unemployed.

Mr Halfon ignores the effects of VAT, a highly regressive tax, and the very unfair cap on housing benefit. In the same issue, Shelter warns of the damage, especially increased homelessness.

Where are the planned welfare cuts of £11bn with a further £4bn identified? Why is the Government punishing the so-called 'lifestyle choices' of the poor (George Osborne's insulting term)?

Ministers scramble to protect budgets from the sustained assaults on public services. More vulnerable people will lose services while workers lose their jobs. The private sector won't escape, as can be seen from the cancellation of the Building Schools Programme.

Some protective measures cited may indeed help. However, even the flagship policy of increasing tax allowances by £1,000 has limitations. Those least well-off, unemployed people and poorer pensioners don't pay income tax.

The Government plans to shrink the state back to the 1980s (but even more harshly than Thatcher) and then the '30s. The scale and speed of cuts risk, at the very least, economic stagnation for years.

If Attlee had pursued this route after the war, when debt was deep, we would never have had a progressive Welfare State.

It's not public spending – or Gordon Brown – wrecking the economy but the recklessness and greed of international bankers.

Let's see how the Government tackles tax avoidance and evasion, regulates markets and negotiates the 'Robin Hood' tax on financial transactions.

Otherwise, how many services will survive to defend vulnerable people after these ferocious cuts?

Jean Clark, Deputy Leader,
Labour Group, Harlow Council

SIR, Further to Robert Halfon's letter in last week's Star, I agree that we have massive debts brought about by the banking fraternity. But when he claims that pensioners will be better off with a triple guarantee of pensions he is blowing smoke screens.

The proposal of raising pensions in line with earnings, inflation or 2.5 per cent (whichever is higher) is correct, but he has failed to point out that for the last few years earnings have been lower than inflation and we have still been receiving increases of 2.5 per cent.

He has also failed to mention that the Government is not using the Retail Price Index but the Consumer Price Index, which is much lower.

Next year, when VAT is 20 per cent, we will then lose the 2.5 per cent increase back to the Government.

What is given with one hand is grabbed back by the other.

Red card for swearing Support local artists

SIR, My grandson and I attended Harlow Town's match against Needham Market on Saturday.

I am aware there will be swearing at football matches but Harlow's coaching staff – one in particular – used the F word every other word when shouting instructions to their players while Needham Market's coaching staff were able to convey their instructions without swearing and they won 2-1.

We moved away from the Harlow dugout but is there the need for this language?

Shame about old pond

SIR, It was good to read about the nine new ponds in Latton Woods (Star, September 16). Shame that some of the money and energy couldn't have been used on the existing pond on the common.

It used to be a great place to take the children tiddling but now it is choked up with plants and rubbish.

Such a shame and such a waste of a one-time beauty spot.

C. Singleton
Radburn Close, Harlow

SIR, Last week I had the privilege of visiting the latest addition to Harlow's cultural scene – the Gatehouse Arts Gallery in West Gate.

Thanks to Harlow Council, Essex County Council, Harlow Renaissance and the Harlow Town Partnership, a vacant shop has been turned into a centre where some of Harlow's most creative artists can work and display their creations.

This, coupled with the Parndon Mill Gallery and Harlow's designation as a Sculpture Town, has placed Harlow at the forefront of the creative arts in Essex.

Now it's over to us – the residents of Harlow – to support our local artists by visiting both the Gatehouse Arts and Parndon Mill galleries and, better still, buying some of their truly imaginative works.

I'm sure many a Harlow home is just begging to elbow out of the way that mass produced product for something truly individual, locally created and attractively priced.

Please visit both galleries today and every month as new exhibitions are staged. Believe me, you won't regret it.

Children's colourful lambs are a work of art

HUNDREDS of children from Harlow primary schools have helped create a dazzling display of brightly coloured lambs inside Harlow Civic Centre.

The cardboard cut-outs were distributed to schools across the town before the summer holidays and given to children to colour in.

They form the latest addition to the Harlow Town Centre Partnership's Summertime Sheep Trail, which began with the installation of 29 life-sized fibreglass sheep at various locations throughout the town centre.

The best-decorated lambs from each school year – from Reception to Year 6 – will win family tickets to the charity performance of this year's Harlow Playhouse pantomime, Aladdin.

Town centre development manager Richard Dennery said this week: "The display is looking fantastic. There are clearly some very talented young artists in schools across Harlow!"

There is still time for your child to submit their masterpiece. Lambs and entry forms need to be returned to the Lamb Pen in The Water Gardens foyer outside Asda in order to be put on display and entered into the competition.

For more information on the Summertime Sheep Trail, log on to www.harlowlive.com.

Pervert jailed for sex attack on pensioner

A PERVERT who dragged an elderly woman into woodland and subjected her to a horrific sex attack has been sent to prison for eight years.

Lorry driver David Catton (43) carried out the attack on his 71-year-old victim on a footpath outside Maypole Sports Club, in London Road, Harlow, on May 11.

Prosecutor Richard Stott said Catton put his hand over her mouth before dragging her into nearby woodland and forcing her to the ground.

The court heard that, during the

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

assault, Catton expressed a predilection for older women and touched her first before carrying out the rape. He then threatened to harm her if she told anyone about what had happened.

But the shaken victim, who was returning from a shopping trip to Bishop's Stortford when the attack took place, went home and contacted police who arrested Catton a few days later.

"These were brazen offences in broad daylight," Mr Scott added.

Catton, of Mayfield Park, Bishop's Stortford, pleaded guilty at at Chelmsford Crown Court to charges of sexual assault by penetration and oral rape.

Kim Jenkins, representing Catton, said in mitigation, the defendant seemed to have had a "brainstorm" before the attack.

"These were clearly very distressing offences," she told the court. "He clearly appreciates the revulsion in acts such as these."

Passing sentence, Judge David Turner QC said of the attack: "It was a dreadful experience. She was attacked and sexually violated by a stranger.

"She suffered a skin tear and grazing, there was vile sexual talk and talk of liking older women.

"She was petrified for 10 minutes during the most dreadful experience of her life."

The judge, who was told Catton had a previous conviction for harassment of a woman which involved stealing a pair of knickers, added: "There's a question about your sexual deviance."

As well as ordering Catton to remain on the sex offenders register indefinitely, he warned him not to approach females in secluded spots such as woodland and parks.

Job's done for police dog Brennan

A LONG-serving member of the Essex police force joined his final patrol last week.

German Shepherd dog Brennan has earned a well-deserved rest after helping to bring scores of crooks to justice during his six-year career, which almost got off to a false start when he contracted a life-threatening disease.

But he refused to let the illness lick him and went on to receive two commendations for bravery.

The crime-fighting canine will now swap the streets of Essex for a more laid-back lifestyle at the home of his handler, PC Mick Finch.

"Brennan's retirement is the end of an era for me," said PC Finch. "He has a great individual personality and is larger than life."

"There's a touch of sadness in the fact that he won't be coming to work with me anymore. It was nice to know he was there always watching my back."

PC Finch is now training Brennan's replacement.

Our greatest discovery has now vanished

By MAIYA KEIDAN
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Some 25 years ago a Harlow-based scientist named Cyril Drake was hailed for producing one of the "greatest discoveries of our time".

The former chief research fellow at Harlow's Standard Telephone Laboratories invented a water soluble glass called Vitrilease and his discovery was reported in the Star.

The miraculous substance allowed for the controlled release of chemicals.

Imagining its possible applications, scientists were thrilled with the idea that the magical glass-like material could be used to cure tropical diseases, kill pests and improve the health and meat yield of animals.

Scottish scientists were also hopeful of the substance's possible aid in bone surgery.

Vitrilease was even thought to be able to help with insulin distribution in diabetic patients and prevent corrosion in motor vehicles.

Father-of-four Drake, then 63, had been most excited by the fact it might help purify the parasite-ridden waters of Zambia and Zimbabwe.

WHERE IS HE NOW? Scientist Cyril Drake, left

"One of the most satisfying outcomes of my work would be to help Third World countries improve their yields in food stuffs," he told the Star at the time.

Before this headline-producing discovery, Drake had spent 40 years at the laboratories.

When he wasn't working or instilling a love of science in his children, he put his feet up with some good old science fiction literature.

But despite the exciting discovery, little now seems to be known of what happened to Vitrilease or Cyril Drake.

DO YOU REMEMBER: The Vaqueros

Do you remember Harlow band The Vaqueros, who were once destined for stardom?

Back in 1985, the five-piece had a common dream of fame and glory.

Peter Stoud on drums, Robin Kohler on bass, Mickey Howard on guitar, Andy Free on keyboards and Chris "Shrink" Banks were The Vaqueros.

Three of the members were from Harlow and their management company, Ignition Management, told the Star that they had the talent to get to the top.

One of the two partners of the uber-small music management company, Marcus Russell, had recalled hearing The Vaqueros' demo tape and said:

"We just couldn't ignore it. We thought they were excellent."

Russell had described their sound as "off the wall rock-pop music", similar to the styles of XTC and The Stranglers. With several gigs lined up, they seemed to have a bright future.

Do you remember seeing them perform in Harlow, or perhaps you were one of the band members?

● If you remember the band why not share your memories with our readers. Send them to daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk or Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW.

Young BMX fans were given a treat when they met their hero, the star rider Andy Ruffell. The last time the world champion visited Harlow many children were left disappointed after a mix up over his appearance time.

Jobs axe falls

Some 90 people lose their jobs at Cossor Electronics due to the company's falling profits. Ironically, on the day of the announcement, another electronics firm, GEC Avionics, held interviews.

Soccer game raises £1,000 for charities

A FOOTBALL match between two teams of Harlow bobbies and showbiz celebrities has raised £1,000 for children's charities.

The team of celebrities, including television presenter Jeff Brazier, took on Harlow Police FC at Harlow Greyhound Stadium in July.

The match ended in a 5-4 victory for the boys in blue but, more importantly, it raised money for children's charities.

Harlow Police FC captain Stuart Burt said: "This is a wonderful end to a great day out.

"I would like to thank everyone for coming along and supporting the teams and in particular a massive thanks to the celebrities for giving us a challenging game and staying after to sign autographs and have photos taken with supporters."

Actor and producer Simon Cummins, who captained the celebrity team, added: "We were very glad to be a part of this worthwhile event and despite losing, were very thrilled at the prospect of a rematch next year.

"The real winners were the children's charities."

OAP put his hands in child's knickers

AN 83-year-old man who put his hands down the knickers of a seven-year-old girl while comforting her has been spared a jail sentence.

Although Robert Snooks, of Ram Gorse, Harlow, admitted sexually assaulting the girl on May 24 last year, a judge at Chelmsford Crown Court accepted that he had no sexual motive.

Instead of receiving a prison sentence, Snooks was given a two-year community order. He also banned Snooks from going to pubs for three months.

Richard Stevens, prosecuting, told the court the incident happened after the girl had been bullied.

"A couple of boys had been violent towards her and she went to the defendant's home where he comforted her," said Mr Stevens.

While they were watching football on the television Snooks called the girl over to him and she sat on his lap.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"He stroked her, rubbing his hand over the lower part of her chest," said Mr Stevens. "His hand and fingers went inside her waistband.

"She was nervous, frightened and shocked. She went home, told her mother and it was reported to the police."

Louise Muir Wilson, representing Snook, said in mitigation he was of positive good character and had not had any contact with police before this incident.

She continued: "He stroked and comforted the child. He wasn't concentrating: he was half asleep and watching television. He had no sexual feelings.

"He wishes to express his apology for his utterly ill-thought-out behaviour and the effect on anyone."

Passing sentence, Judge Anthony Goldstaub told Snooks: "You suffer from periods of absent mindedness and during such a period you comforted the girl. She had come to you for comfort having been bullied by some boys."

Although there was no sexual motive, the judge told Snooks he was guilty of sexual assault because of the legal definition that an act which looks objectively sexual is deemed sexual, even if the person had no sexual intentions at all.

Despite ordering Snooks to go onto the sex offenders register for five years, the judge said: "The prosecution don't regard you as a paedophile or a risk to other children. Society must face the problem of elderly people reaching the point where behaviour is unacceptable.

"If people feel I ought to have dealt with you more harshly in this unusual or even unique case, if they hope to live till their 80s let them cast the first stone because of the problems of people getting to their senior years."

Labour rallies support to keep council's committee structure

LABOUR chiefs in Harlow are urging party members to take part in public consultations on proposed changes to the council's decision-making process.

They want to maintain the current committee system, arguing that proposals to move to a cabinet-style set-up with a leader or directly-elected mayor are undemocratic.

Labour councillors have previously accused the Conservative-led administration of taking a low-key approach to the issue, claiming consultation documents are misleading and lacking in objectivity.

Harlow Labour Party chairman Ian Beckett said: "Any system of governance should ensure that all elected members, irrespective of political party, have a proportionate input to the decision-making process in order for the views of Harlow people to be reflected.

"A centralised executive is bad enough but to consider entrusting such power with a single individual like a Mayor shows a lack of understanding of the needs and views of the people in our town."

The consultation runs until next Friday (October 1). Views can be submitted online at www.harlow.gov.uk/executiveconsultation, via email to executiveconsultation@harlow.gov.uk or in writing to Executive Consultation, Harlow Council, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow CM20 1WG.

It's official: Stephen is the biggest Smurf fan

A SMURF collector, a tiny cow and a dog whose tongue is almost as long as its body are just three of the weird and wonderful entries to make it into the new edition of the Guinness Book of World Records.

Stephen Parkes, from Nottingham, is featured for owning the largest collection of Smurf memorabilia in the world, while West Yorkshire cow Swallow is crowned the world's smallest – measuring just 33ins (0.8m) from hind to foot. Puggy the Pekinese dog also slobbered his way into the 2011 edition of the book after licking the competition to set a new world record as the dog with the longest tongue – measuring a whopping 11.5cm!

It marks a change of fortune for Puggy, who was abandoned by his old owners because of his unusual looks.

Current owner Becky Stanford said lots of people are in total disbelief when they meet Puggy for the first time.

"It means a great deal to us that he has accomplished what he has," she said.

"From being a stray dog, being dumped, to being a Guinness World Record holder is just phenomenal. I just can't believe it."

Other record breakers featured in the new book include the world's oldest gorilla – aged 53 – and the Jack Russell dog who can pop 100 balloons in the fastest time – 44.9 seconds!

Smoke alarm delay leaves mum fuming

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUNCIL tenant has been left fuming after waiting three months for maintenance contractors to replace her broken smoke alarm.

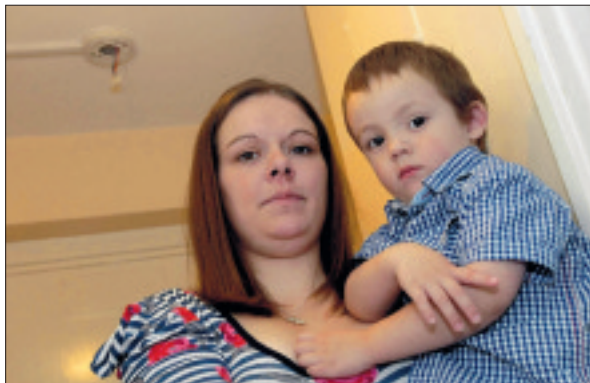

Mum-of-one Kerry Black (25), of Moorfield, was told not she should not install a new alarm herself as she would then be liable for any damage caused to her flat in the event of the unit malfunctioning.

Despite repeated complaints to the council, she claims she was told that contractors Kier Harlow did not have the money or resources to carry out the job.

Ms Black, who lives in the flat with partner Chris Grinstead (27) and son Joshua (2), told the Star: "Our lives have been put at risk because Kier claimed they couldn't spare the resources to carry out a 10-minute job."

"To make things worse, we were told we couldn't fit a new one ourselves in case we didn't install it properly and something went wrong. I couldn't believe what I was hearing!"

The family had to remove their faulty alarm in July after it continued

ANGRY: Kerry Black and her two-year-old son Joshua to go off for no reason.

"The noise was driving us and our neighbours up the wall so it had to be taken down, but I never for a minute imagined we'd still be waiting for a new one three months later. What if there had been a fire?"

John Phillips, operations director for Kier Harlow said Ms Black had been given "inaccurate information" by the firm and apologised for the delay.

"Unfortunately at the time we were unable to allocate an electrician to this job as quickly as we would have liked, but changes have now been made to the electrical team to ensure that this sort of issue does not occur in the future," he added.

"We have now spoken to Ms Black and have arranged for an electrician to attend her property this Friday [tomorrow]."

Wig makes a world of difference for brave Aimee-Lee

By STAR REPORTER

SMILER: Aimee-Lee with her new real hair wig (s)

A YOUNG girl suffering from an extremely rare skin disorder which left her without hair is helping to raise awareness of children's genetic conditions by supporting a charity which provided her with a real hair wig.

Aimee-Lee Harlow (7) is one of only five children in the UK and 500 worldwide to suffer from Haywells Syndrome.

As well as losing all her hair, her symptoms include a lack of sweat glands which make her susceptible to hypothermia in winter and overheating in summer, no tear ducts and underdeveloped finger nails and toenails.

Aimee-Lee, who lives with her mum Mel in Sawbridgeworth, started losing her hair at the age of three but NHS shortfalls meant she could not be given a natural hair wig. Instead, she was provided with an adult acrylic wig which, as well as being too big, aggravated her scalp infections.

She was also teased by other children pulling at the ill-fitting hairpiece.

But now, thanks to Ectodermal Dysplasia Society and the charity Jeans for Genes, Aimee-Lee has received a wig made specifically for her at a cost of more than £1,200.

"Aimee-Lee now has the hair she deserves and with it has come confidence and joy on a daily basis, something her mum could only pray for before," said a spokeswoman for Jeans for Genes.

"With her new hair she looks like all the other girls in her class at school and is a bubbly, fun-loving, bright child."

Aimee-Lee was born with a cleft lip/palette and regular vomited during feeding due to overheating. Slowly her symptoms developed but it was only when a dentist pointed out the possibility that she had ectodermal dysplasia that she was diagnosed with Haywells Syndrome by doctors at Addenbrookes Hospital in Cambridge.

When she was four her mum, a single parent, met other families coping with the same or similar syndromes through the Ectodermal Dysplasia Society and Jeans for Genes and discovered that with their support she could buy a specially made wig.

"Sharing experiences with other families takes a weight off Mel," said the Jeans for Genes spokeswoman. "Now, with a greater understanding, of Haywells Syndrome, managing symptoms has become easier and their doctor appointment-filled routine has become the norm."

"Now she doesn't overheat, she is able to put clips in her hair, put it up in a pony-tail and, more importantly, she feels like it's her own."

Jeans for Genes was set up 15 years ago with the aim of improving the lives of children with genetic disorders. Since then it has raised more than £35m to pay for care and support services for children and families, as well as funding ongoing research into the conditions.

One of its main fundraising events if Jeans for Genes Day, which encourages people who wear their jeans to work or school in return for a donation.

● This year Jeans for Genes Day is next Friday (October 1). For more information, visit the website at www.jeansforgenesday.com.

Hoax fire calls at five-year low

THE number of hoax calls made to the county's firefighters has dropped by 65 per cent during the past five years.

Figures released by Essex County Fire and Rescue Service show a steady decline in the number of hoax calls the service receives, from 1,489 in 2004 to just 531 last year.

Assistant Divisional Officer Vernon Kendall said: "Hoax calls are a problem. As a service we deal with more than two a day but the number we get has been reducing year-on-year.

"We recognise that the menace of hoax calls affects all people living within Essex and we are doing all we can to deter the hoax caller."

"The problem costs money and consumes valuable resources and could potentially cost people's lives because appliances are not available to protect the public when and where we should be."

HEALTH CHECK

Looking at health issues in partnership with the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust

Keep a check on blood pressure

THREE-quarters of adults in the UK do not know their blood pressure, according to latest research carried out by the Blood Pressure Association.

In a warning timed to coincide with National Blood Pressure Awareness Testing Week, the BPA says these people are taking an unnecessary risk with their health.

High blood pressure, also called hypertension, usually has no symptoms and many people often do not know they have it. But it can be fatal.

It narrows the arteries and blood vessels in the body. If the blood pressure remains high for a long period of time and is not treated, there is an increased risk of a heart attack, stroke or even heart failure.

High blood pressure is also a risk factor for kidney disease, dementia and some eye conditions.

The good news is it is both treatable and preventable. There are lots of ways to reduce the risk – by eating a healthier diet and increasing the amount of exercise are just two of the ways of lowering it.

It is important to keep track of your blood pressure. By having regular checks you can keep track of these numbers and adapt your lifestyle if needed.

Eileen Jolley, head of staff health and wellbeing at The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust, said: "It is important that everyone is aware of their own blood pressure because maintaining it within a healthy range is key to reducing the risks of wider health problems.

"I would advise that people for whom it is common within their families or are generally at risk of increased blood pressure should seek advice and visit their GP."

Symptoms of two killer diseases

WOULD you know how to recognise the symptoms of meningitis or septicaemia?

One in 10 people who are affected by meningitis die and many more are left with a range of disabilities.

This week is Meningitis Research Foundation Awareness Week which aims to raise awareness of two diseases that, if untreated, can have devastating effects.

Both can be hard to recognise at first, however. Symptoms usually include fever, vomiting, headache and generally feeling unwell while the more serious side effects include a rash (although not present in all cases), neck stiffness, dislike of bright lights, seizures and being very sleepy or difficult to wake.

Red flag symptoms of septicaemia include pale or mottled skin, cold hands and feet, and muscle pain.

It is estimated that there are around 3,500 cases in the UK and Ireland every year. By recognising the symptoms, acting fast by seeking urgent medical advice can help save lives.

Hospital supporting the first sexual health campaign to target over 50s

SEXUALLY transmitted infections, or STIs, are increasing in the over 50s, with evidence they are rising faster than the younger generation.

As part of Sexual Health Week 2010, the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is supporting the first sexual health campaign targeted specifically at people over 50. Health Protection Agency data shows that chlamydia cases in the UK rose by 72 per cent in men and women in the 45-64 age group between 2002-06 while there was a 93 per cent increase in gonorrhoea in females in the same age group between 1999 and 2008.

With more long-term relationships breaking up than ever before, older men and women are returning to the dating scene but in many cases are ignoring safer sex messages. GUM consultant Dr Gail Crowe said: "The problem is that lots of people over 50, single or dating, don't think safer sex applies to them.

"If you've been in a long-term relationship it may not have been something you've had to factor in for years. And after the menopause, when pregnancy isn't a concern, using condoms can be easily forgotten about. The result is STIs are making a comeback in a new generation." Most STIs are curable and all are treatable. Advances in technologies and medications mean that tests are far less invasive than they once were. Princess Alexandra Hospital offer a number of clinics, both walk-in and appointment, for anyone who requires a test or has concerns.

Appointments are available during the day and on two evenings per week, and a GP referral is not necessary.

ST NICHOLAS: Youngsters at the Hobbs Cross Road primary came face-to-face with some exotic creatures during an animals encounter day on Monday.

The Year 2 pupils handled tarantulas, snakes and lizards as natural education firm Impeyan transformed the school into a mini-zoo for the day.

School spokeswoman Brenda Newland said: "The children were absolutely enthralled by the weird and wonderful creatures brought in."

"They were all very brave and didn't think twice before picking up tarantulas and snakes. It was a fantastic day and the pupils had a wonderful time learning all about their new friends!"

PASSMORES: Staff and students at the Tendring Road secondary celebrated its 50th anniversary by taking a trip back in time to the swinging '60s.

Pupils were encouraged to create groovy outfits celebrating the era when London was fashion capital of the world, while members of staff and guests recalled personal memories of the decade.

Carrie Billington, head of KS3 English and media studies teacher, organised the day, which also included a jive dance lesson, a performance by the school's soul band and a chance to look at some vehicles of the period.

"The day was an enormous success and the students and staff thoroughly enjoyed it," said Ms Billington.

MILWARDS: Youngsters from schools across the town swapped their books for buzzers when the Paringdon Road primary school hosted the annual Harlow Junior Challenge.

This year's University Challenge-style competition was a typically hard-fought affair, with Little Parndon Primary, pictured right, emerging victorious over Jerounds Junior in the final.

The contest was sponsored by local publishing firm Pearson Education, who provided trophies for the finalists and £300 worth of books for the winning school.

The prizes were presented by Harlow paralympian Anne Wafula-Strike.

A school spokeswoman said: "The children really enjoyed taking part in this year's competition and the final couldn't have been closer!"

Life skills learnt in small classes

HOWE Green House School is known for its personal approach and commitment to high standards of education and also boasts a strong and active commitment to the family. Boys and girls can join Acorns Nursery from the age of two where places are offered on a sessional basis. Parents can also apply for their children to join the main school in kindergarten at the age of three and continue through until the age of 11 when they transfer to a range of secondary schools in both the independent and state sectors. The school has a history of high academic achievement and success in secondary placement at the end of Key Stage 2. Howe Green offers a friendly, family atmosphere with small class sizes. It delivers a broad-based curriculum with a creative emphasis and pupils benefit from specialist teachers offering lessons in music, sport, drama and ballet.

Parents are actively encouraged to be partners with the school in their children's education.

The school values children for their unique personal qualities and seeks to provide lasting skills for life, strong self esteem and a sense of wonderment and reflection.

Emotional literacy is incorporated into the children's learning as part of the extensive curriculum.

Staff are committed to providing a rich learning environment where all children flourish and feel valued.

Howe Green House is set in seven-and-a-half acres of beautiful countryside only five minutes drive from Bishop's Stortford and 15 minutes drive from Great Dunmow.

Where tradition and innovation meet

SEAL-spotting in Norfolk, climbing Snowdon or listening to Evensong in York Minster – Dame Bradbury's School offers a broad and inspiring education.

Every day is busy and exciting at this co-educational prep school and nursery for three to 11-year-olds, based in Saffron Walden.

The school offers more than 50 trips a year, which bring variety and interest to learning and help children to develop socially and emotionally.

Highlights this coming term include visits to Sutton Hoo, the Thames Barrier, the Houses of Parliament, King's College Chapel and the National Gallery, as well as the highly popular Year 5 residential trip to Hilltop Outdoor Centre in Norfolk. Dame Bradbury's also offers more than 40 activities and clubs, and sporting opportunities range from basketball, fencing and yoga to rugby, netball and basketball.

"The school blends tradition and innovation," says head Jane Crouch. "Our small classes allow us to give each child the attention they need to thrive. They are able to try new things to find out where their strengths lie."

Dame Bradbury's pupils progress, often with scholarships, to a wide range of schools including The Perse Upper, Perse Girls', The Leys, Saffron Walden County High, Hockerill Anglo-European College and Bishop's Stortford College.

The school can offer help with fees – bursaries may be awarded in the form of a discount of up to 100 per cent on tuition fees.

Choosing a school: what you need to know

If you have a child approaching school age, or is already in school and making the move from primary to secondary, how do you choose the right school for them?

Do you go on the recommendations of friends? Maybe location is your primary concern, or will you allow your child to make the decision for you? When you're choosing a school it can be a minefield, and unless you've been involved in the education system yourself, you'll find much has changed in the past few years since you were at school!

One good idea is to make a checklist and work through it to help you make an informed choice. In your area alone there may be several schools that would be suitable for your child, so it is only right that you take the time to inspect them all, and judge them on their individual merits. Just because you like the look of one primary or secondary school doesn't mean that all of the others in your area are the same.

Visit the schools if you can. Use the opportunities presented by school open days to see what they have to offer, or if you prefer, make an appointment and take the time to tour the school on a private visit. Teachers should be more than happy to answer all of your questions and show you parts of the school that open days might not allow.

Talk to your child as they will almost certainly know children who attend the schools on your list. Find out from them what their friends think or ask their friends directly. You would be surprised at just how unbiased and informative children can be about their schooling.

Ask about the facilities and after school activities the schools have to offer. Remember that school is not only a place of learning but also a place where your child will learn the rudimentary skills of communication and how to mix with others.

Ask about league tables and exam results to judge how well the school performs.

If necessary make a shortlist of schools that you think may fit the bill and ask to visit them again. Sometimes a second look can throw up things that you may have missed first time round or that just didn't spark your interest at the time. Most schools will be happy to do this. Not only does it show you have your child's well being at heart, but it also allows you to familiarise yourself with the staff along the way.

Make notes – and lots of them – don't be afraid to ask your guide to repeat some information you may think relevant. After all you only have a certain amount of time to tour the school.

Observe how the teachers and pupils interact. Finally, and perhaps most importantly, take on board your child's comments and opinions. After all it is they who will be spending most of their time at school. If it looks right and feels right, then it more than likely will be, but if your child isn't going to be happy there then the whole process can only end in tears.

Finding the right school for your child is one of the most important tasks you will perform as a parent. If you get it right your child will be happy, content and flourish in the pursuit of knowledge, which is one of the greatest gifts you as a parent will ever receive.

Clever Cloggs Day Nursery is a large purpose-built nursery, situated on the new Priors Green Development in Little Canfield, Dunmow, Essex.

Clever Cloggs Day Nursery is open Monday to Friday from 7am to 7pm, 52 weeks of the year, providing quality child care for children aged three months to five years, as well as providing care for before and after school children.

Clever Cloggs Day Nursery delivers the Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum to all children attending the setting.

The nursery's aim is to help children become successful learners and confident individuals. Children will learn through a wide range of activities and daily time tables are in place to cover all areas of learning and encourage independence. The curriculum will be responsive to the needs and abilities of each and every child and this will be provided for them in a safe caring environment.

A secure, safe and happy childhood is important in its own right and it provides the foundation for children to make the most of their abilities and talents as they grow up.

Security and stability fosters high standards

SAINT Nicholas provides affordable, quality independent education with excellent educational opportunities and outstanding facilities.

Visitors to the school are impressed by the friendly, positive attitude of the pupils and their energetic sense of purpose.

The school's philosophy is based on a commitment to sound moral principles and a view of education as an all-round preparation for life.

Academic work is given strong emphasis and, equally, sound guidance in personal development is seen as an integral part of a good education.

Saint Nicholas enables pupils to acquire the knowledge, wisdom and self-discipline appropriate for life-long learning, employment and adult life.

To achieve this, the school promotes the personal development of pupils, encouraging lively and enquiring minds, respect for themselves and others and a high regard for truth.

The aim is to provide an environment in which every pupil can achieve the highest standards in all aspects of school life in preparation for the challenges of the future.

The stability and security of continuous education on one site, spanning the age ranges from four to 16 years is a major factor in helping to achieve this.

Saint Nicholas places a major emphasis on the individual. Through the pastoral care system, children are helped to develop their potential in both academic and extra-curricular fields by encouragement and a close working relationship between children, staff and parents.

Confident, caring students

AS you enter the grounds of St Edmund's College, you cannot help but be impressed by the grandeur of its buildings and delightful location, set in 400 acres of rural countryside near Ware.

It stems from the college's Catholic heritage dating back to 1568. The Catholic faith and approach to education remain the fundamental bedrock of St Edmund's today, whilst embracing students from other faiths and denominations.

The school combines excellent facilities and teaching standards with a friendly atmosphere and a strong emphasis on mutual respect. The community spirit of the school encourages students to develop as individuals, to pursue their own interests and achieve their goals, both in academic and extra-curricular activities and not to be afraid of a challenge.

Pastoral care is very important at St Edmund's where the happiness and welfare of the students is paramount. They are taught that other people matter, and respect and support for each other goes right to the heart of the school's ethos. For the younger pupils, St Edmund's Prep, which is located on the same site, offering a sound preparation for the senior school, providing a healthy balance between academic work and recreational activities with plenty of opportunity for creativity and physical exercise. Staff at the senior school are focused on ensuring that students realise their potential so that they can be capable of achieving whatever they want when they leave school. The sixth form is run like an undergraduate community with strong individual support, extra freedom and responsibilities.

By the time they leave school, the students are confident and caring team players, but most importantly they are secure individuals, ready to contribute to society.

Top quality from am dram troupe

REVIEW

Noises Off
Global Productions, Harlow Playhouse

A WHIRLWIND of wit and whimsy, Michael Frayn's riotous farce-within-a-farce is rightly regarded as one of the funniest plays ever written.

But it would be facile to suggest the exemplary script alone makes for easy laughs because this must also be one of the most difficult comedies to successfully stage – especially for an am dram group.

If the complication of a fully-rotatable set isn't enough of a headache for a director, the complex stage directions, zippy dialogue and intentionally chaotic delivery demand a degree of professionalism not often expected of an amateur production.

But it is testament to the enormous capabilities of director Michael Phillips and his cast that Global Productions' effervescent adaptation of Frayn's love letter to the theatre was a veritable tour-de-force of double entendres, sheikhs and sardines.

Global stalwart Richard Holliss was his usual brilliant self as grouchy director Lloyd Dallas, whose frustration with the ropery rehearsals for gauche sex comedy Nothing On is tempered only by the knowledge his next job will be directing Richard III. As he sits head in hands off-stage, his hapless actors give a hilarious glimpse of the first act of the raunchy play-within-a-play, with forgetful Doty Otley (played with great relish by Christine Holliss) continually screwing up a simple routine involving a troublesome plate of sardines.

David Reed and Lucy Elliott were similarly impressive as on-stage lovers Garry Lejeune and Brooke Ashton, the latter remaining composed throughout despite spending most of the play in a state of undress as all hell breaks loose around her. Meanwhile, misfiring method man Frederick Fellowes (Keith Cummings) struggles with nosebleeds, motivation and a misinterpreted dalliance with Garry's off-stage lover Dotty that leads to some sublime slapstick in the second act as axe-wielding cast members chase each other around backstage. But it was Chris Millington who very nearly stole the show as ageing, alcoholic thesp Selsdon Mowbray, a hilariously overblown RSC veteran who spends more time at the bottom of a whiskey bottle than he does on stage.

A triumph of controlled insanity, if Global Productions can continue to put on amateur productions of such outstanding quality – and this is by no means their first – Harlow theatregoers can safely spare their wallets an expensive trip up West.

Academy youngsters meet showbiz stars

YOUNG dancers rubbed shoulders with TV stars during a performing arts summer course.

Youngsters attending the Kevin Adams Academy summer workshop at Passmore School were put through their paces by X Factor choreographer Glen Ball before putting on two shows for friends and family.

They also got the chance to grill Hollyoaks star Kevin Sacre and his wife, Strictly Come Dancing 2008 champion Camilla Dallerup, on their showbiz careers, with the celebrity couple dishing out tips on how to make it to the top.

Academy head Kevin Adams told the Star he had been impressed with the professionalism of his students, some of whom were aged as young as five.

"The summer school went really well and we had two great shows," he said. "We had some fantastic special guests this year; Glen Ball is one of the dancers on the X-Factor and is a well-respected teacher all over the world.

"Kevin and Camilla watched the shows and gave a really interesting talk to the students. The Q&A session went on for over an hour and I was really happy because the students asked a lot of insightful, intelligent questions about working hard."

BEN Affleck may be best known as an actor but the chisel-jawed leading man is steadily delivering his best work behind the camera.

He already has an Oscar on the mantelpiece as co-writer of Good Will Hunting and his directorial debut, Gone Baby Gone, was a gritty adaptation of Dennis Lehane's novel that garnered numerous critical plaudits.

For his second feature in the director's chair, Affleck remains on the streets of Boston for a taut heist thriller. The Town is a well-crafted and vivid portrait of a close-knit community of men with a strict code of silence that condemns those whose speak out of turn to an early grave.

Doug MacRay (Affleck) is doomed to repeat the mistakes of his father Stephen (Chris Cooper) – currently serving time in a maximum security prison – as the mastermind of a four-strong team of bank robbers comprising trigger-happy best friend Jem (Jeremy Renner), Gloansy (Slaine) and Desmond (Owen Burke).

On their final job, Jem takes bank manager Claire Keesey (Rebecca Hall) hostage, releasing her once they are safely away from pursuing cops.

Fearing that the terrified woman may identify them, Doug engineers a meeting in a laundrette and slowly develops an attraction to Claire, who has no idea that she is falling in love with the man who pointed a gun at her head hours earlier.

Meanwhile, FBI Special Agent Frawley (Jon Hamm) treads on the toes of Boston police detective Dino Ciampa (Titus Welliver) to apprehend the thieves and bring down money man Fergie Colm (Pete Postlethwaite).

The Town cranks up the tension as Doug struggles to keep his affair with Claire secret from Jem and the posse. Once the apparent betrayal comes to light, it ignites a powder keg of emotions that rocks the neighbourhood to its foundations.

The film is set in Charlestown, Massachusetts, the one-square-mile neighbourhood that apparently produces more armoured car and bank robbers than anywhere else in America.

What it may lack in originality it makes up for in exhilarating action sequences and strong performances, with Affleck noticeably giving himself the least showy role and allowing his co-stars to chew the scenery.

>>THE OTHER GUYS

Detectives PK Highsmith (Samuel L. Jackson) and Christopher Danson (Dwayne Johnson) are the golden boys of the NYPD, monopolising newspaper headlines with their gung-ho antics. When the two officers are sidelined, hot-headed Terry Hoyt (Mark Wahlberg) and his mild-mannered partner Allen Gamble (Will Ferrell) vie with rival detectives Fosse (Damon Wayans Jr) and Martin (Rob Riggle) to lead the team. Terry is desperate to be included on a case involving multi-millionaire David Ershon (Steve Coogan) but when his pleas fall on deaf ears, Terry drags Allen into the field with only a wooden replica gun for protection.

>>RESIDENT EVIL: AFTERLIFE (3D)

Afterlife continues the adventures of Alice (Milla Jovovich) as she battles the evil Umbrella Corporation. The fourth Resident Evil film opens in rain-soaked Japan with the outbreak of the T-virus engineered by the Umbrella Corporation, which sweeps the globe transforming the infected into the ravenous undead. Fast-forwarding four years, the action moves to Los Angeles via Alaska and a prison stronghold where Alice and old friend Claire Redfield (Ali Larter), who is suffering from amnesia, meet fellow survivors Luther (Boris Kodjoe), Bennett (Kim Coates), Crystal (Kacey Barnfield), Angel (Sergio Peris-Mencheta) and Kim (Norman Yeung). Claire's long lost brother Chris (Wentworth Miller) just happens to be imprisoned in the basement and he leads the motley crew against a ferocious new evolution of the undead.

Susan Thompson (Teri Polo) is forced to uproot her family to a new, secluded neighbourhood, causing friction with her older, teenage son, Dane (Chris Massoglia). Foolishly, the boys decide to remove the locks and open the trapdoor to reveal a seemingly bottomless pit. When they seek answers from the previous resident, Creepy Carl (Bruce Dern), the Thompsons learn that the hole is a portal to The

"...We are experiencing an interesting and challenging market, make sure you get sensible advice from your agent..."

Having been in Harlow, for over three decades, we could say "we have seen it all before" but that is little comfort to you when you are having problems finding someone to buy your home.

What you need is, sensible and reliable advice and an honest opinion of what your home is really worth at the moment. And, the likelihood of finding a buyer in these difficult times.

So, in fact, with our experience and knowledge of the Harlow market place since 1975 it is very important to you, the house buyer or seller to be comfortable with an agent who has "seen it all before". As you well know, there is NO substitute for experience and knowledge.

It saddens me when I hear stories of local agents making the most outrageous comments and promises of having dozens of buyers "just waiting to buy your home!" You know it's a lie, you know he or she is just trying to chat you up. Why do they bother to insult your intelligence?

So what is happening in Harlow? You may well ask.

Despite the "doom & gloom" being preached in the national media round here, in Harlow, it is still a busy market although we have seen better times in the past!

The secret is, be sensible with your asking price. Keep it keen and competitive (don't forget, there may be other homes just like yours for sale as well) so, do not be afraid of keeping your price attractive to buyers, then, when you find someone to buy your home you can then get out there to find a new home for your family.

So, thought for the day...

"to keep the market moving, be sensible"

Mini adventure for all the family

With tin-top, convertible and lifestyle estate variants, there's more choice than ever when embarking on a Mini adventure. How about a family-friendly option? It might have taken a few years but it's finally here, in the shape of the Countryman.

You'd have thought that the situation would be bordering on saturation point by now, what with the second generation car having been launched back in 2001, but you, the critics and the industry watchers would be wrong. Mini easily sold out its first year's allocation of the Countryman.

How big a deal exactly is this Countryman, then? In simple terms it's the brand's first four-door model and is sufficiently larger than the three-door hatch we all know and love to be viewed as an alternative to a compact family car.

With its accommodating rear seats – another first for a Mini – the Countryman can be configured with a three-seat split-fold rear bench or a surprisingly more practical two seat arrangement. The latter proves easier to flip and fold and, predictably, affords rear seat occupants the ability to spread out a little. A secondary panel can be flipped down to create a flat boot floor for ease of loading and

£19,875

Engine: 1.6-litre turbo diesel unit developing 112bhp
Transmission: 6-speed manual transmission as standard, driving all four wheels through adaptive all-wheel drive
Performance: Maximum speed 112mph, 0-62mph 11.6 seconds
Economy: 57.6mpg
CO₂ Rating: 129g/km

to hide personal items out of sight.

Front seat occupants fare just as well. The Countryman's cabin offers two adults plenty of room, plus a raised driving position thanks to the car's positioning as a more of a crossover than a traditional hatchback.

And you've got to hand it to Mini, as its designers have stayed faithful to the basic shape that's become so familiar over the years. The Countryman looks beefier than its longer established cousins, and despite the car's chunky stance all the key visual features remain.

One thing has changed, though. To complement the Countryman's obvious lifestyle leanings, BMW has added all-wheel drive to selected models – a first for a Mini. Badged ALL4, the system is active when you pull away after starting the car then reverts to front-wheel drive. However, any loss of grip will have the system springing into life, varying the power split front to rear as required. And the best bit is you don't have to do a thing.

Speaking of performance, the Countryman has a small but impressive range of engines. As with other Minis, you now get all the familiar efficiency widgets such as engine stop-start. The default transmission is a slick, six-speed manual with the option of an auto on selected models.

The range runs from the entry-level One with its 98 horsepower petrol motor to the Cooper and 122 horsepower and to the Cooper

S with 184 horsepower – all from a 1.6-litre petrol engine. The One D and Cooper D diesel boast 98 and 112 horsepower respectively.

There's little doubt that the Cooper S with all the bells and whistles offers keen drivers a thrilling experience. With the addition of all-wheel drive, wet weather and mild off-roading (muddy field, dirt track) can be tackled with confidence.

If fuel consumption is an overriding concern, Mini's new diesel motor should appeal. Now a BMW-sourced 1.6-litre turbo unit, the engine offers improved economy and emissions performance over the similar engines fitted to past generation cars. In front-wheel drive form CO₂ is only 115g/km while the all-wheel drive system results in a modest bump to 129g/km. Economy is 64.2mpg and 57.6mpg respectively.

Some things never change, though. Whatever engine you choose, the Countryman delivers the usual Mini experience.

Despite its size, the car is just as chuckable as the rest of the range. With accurate steering, a slick manual gearshift and a firm but compliant ride, the car should please keen drivers – only this time families won't feel excluded.

Predictably, the Cooper D offers ample low-down acceleration to make those stop-start urban journeys bearable, while the diesel's extra torque makes light work of overtaking slower traffic away from the city limits. Factor in wallet-friendly CO₂ and fuel economy figures and, for anyone racking up the miles, it makes a lot of sense.

For anyone else, the petrol Cooper variant should prove more than ample if you wish to balance asking price and the ability to choose a few attractive optional extras.

It might have grown in size but, in Countryman guise, this particular Mini hasn't suddenly become Mr Sensible. Fun to drive and likely to be fun to own, the Countryman's initial sales success is proof that there remains plenty of potential in the Mini franchise.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Rams exit cup at first hurdle

Harlow Colts 18, Chingford Colts 20
National Colts Cup, 1st round

THE Rams were knocked out of the National Colts Cup by Chingford in a close contest on Sunday.

Chingford went 3-0 ahead when their fly-half kicked an early penalty before the hosts responded with Dave Brigenshaw slotting one over.

Brigenshaw then put Kieran Gleeson clear through for an unconverted try to give Harlow an 8-3 lead.

Chingford exerted pressure and scored an unconverted try through a prop before Brigenshaw kicked another penalty for Harlow. When the half time whistle blew the Rams held a slender 11-10 advantage.

Harlow increased their lead in the second half when Brigenshaw set up Ryan Clark to slide over for a try which the former converted.

The turning point in the game was to come when Harlow were awarded a penalty in front of the posts and decided to take a quick tap penalty rather than to convert the easy kick.

They were made to pay for the

decision when the visitors had their own share of possession and territory.

Chingford scored two unconverted tries to snatch the lead back from Harlow who were unable to get it back due to handling errors and turnovers.

HARLOW: Pedder, Flynn, Buckridan, Foster, Dunn, Norris, Hammond, Heaton, Gregory, McGlone, R. Clark, Gleeson, Brigenshaw, Newton-Rae, Hockley.

hockey

Wapping III 2, Harlow 2
Essex Women's Hockey League prem div

CAROLYN Rushton scored both goals as a weakened Harlow side drew their opening league game against Wapping.

The visitors, missing key players including captain Emma Tweddle, came close to scoring when Rushton shot just wide after seven minutes.

But 10 minutes after the break, Harlow went ahead. Sonya Amos set up Rushton who converted the rebound after her initial shot was blocked.

Harlow doubled their lead five minutes later. A series of penalty corners ended with Rushton slamming the ball home from the top of the circle.

Wapping halved the deficit with 10 minutes left. Linda Rowley in the Harlow goal was unable to stop the rebound after her initial block.

With just minutes left, Wapping were awarded a penalty corner from which they scored despite the umpire missing an illegal back-of-the-stick strike.

Anita Shearman and Emma Frye were both given yellow cards for dissent and the visitors finished the game with nine players.

Fergie's double inspires Hawks

Harlow Tn 3, Maldon and Tiptree 0
Ryman League division one north

THE Hawks should approach their FA Cup second qualifying tie at Blue Square South Bet side Lewes this Saturday with confidence.

Although Lewes are two leagues above Harlow Town they have struggled this season while the latter showed they were in fine fettle with a convincing win over Maldon and Tiptree on Tuesday.

Harlow boss Kevin Warren said: "If we play like we did tonight we will give Lewes a good game. It sets us up well; we want to win and not just go for a draw."

Hawks new striker Steve Ferguson made an impact against Maldon scoring twice. Ferguson, who was once with Spurs and has joined from Farnborough, was making his second appearance for Harlow after coming on as a substitute against Needham Market

ON TARGET: David Cowley celebrates after scoring in Harlow Town's 3-0 victory over Maldon and Tiptree last Saturday.

He put the hosts ahead on 10 minutes with a sublime left-foot volley after brilliantly controlling a free-kick from the left. A minute later, Rhys Madden made two great saves to keep out efforts from Kris Lee.

On 27 minutes Che Stadhart teed up David Cowley to tuck home at the near post and give Harlow a 2-0 lead.

The scoring was rounded off on 55 minutes by Ferguson who shot into an empty net after his first touch from a Clark Akers through ball deflected off advancing Maldon keeper Tony Tucker.

Warren added: "He wants to be at Harlow and I had been trying to get him for two months. He is direct and scores goals and he will not score many better goals than that."

"Everybody put in a good shift and it was a near perfect performance."

● TUESDAY'S triumph followed a frustrating 2-1 home defeat at the hands of fellow promotion hunting side Needham Market on Saturday.

Needham went ahead despite there being a hint of offside before Rhys Barber headed in from close range from an apparent offside position.

The visitors doubled their advantage 11 minutes later when Sam Newson slotted home a penalty after Sam Newson was adjudged to have been fouled by Jon Stevenson inside the box.

Harlow pukled a goal back three minutes later when Clark Akers thundered a shot home from 18 yards after a Dave Cowley corner.

On 51 minutes Harlow were given a penalty for a deliberate handball with Phil Boyland only receiving a yellow card. Sosthene Yao took the penalty but it was well saved by Market keeper Gay.

Rams overwhelmed by mighty Walden

Harlow 22 Saffron Walden 52
London division two north east

THE Rams found Saffron Walden's speedy and powerful backs too hot to handle as they slipped to a heavy home defeat on Saturday.

Although Harlow scored four tries and gained a bonus point, they conceded eight themselves.

Harlow went ahead on 15 minutes after good team work resulted in an overlap for Lee Harron to score an unconverted try.

Nine minutes later Walden's speedy winger Dave Patch outpaced the home defence for an unconverted try. Harlow then conceded three more first half tries which were all converted by Tom Hughes.

Walden lock Richard Montgomery scored a try, before skipper Dave Philips got the next and Adam Miles also went over for one after the home defence was sucked in. At half-time Walden led 26-5.

Darren Hawkins, making a return after a long-lay off through injury, scored Harlow's second try when he powered over early to touch down in the second half. But any doubt about the result was settled on 55 minutes when the accelerating Dave Philips went over for a try converted by Hughes.

Rams hooker Martin Mallia crashed over for a 70th minute try cutting Walden's lead to 33-15. Two minutes later the visitors redressed the balance when Miles scored his second try to put Walden 40-15 ahead.

Shortly after, Paul Eynon dashed over for a try from 10m and Michael Dobson kicked the difficult conversion. Scrum-half Will Brown and sub centre Tom Price both scored for the visitors in the last two minutes.

HARLOW: Alderman, Mackie(C), L Bowering, Bates, Grimley (Webb 60) Dobson, Harron, Cunningham (Lane 55), Mallia, Prindiville, Trearmer, Hawkins (Palmer 58) Roberts, M Bowering, Eynon.
